

Texas Winds Mission:

Texas Winds engages, comforts and celebrates the spirits of isolated seniors, hospital patients, veterans and children in North Texas through live, professional musical performances.

"The patients and staff love when you are here. Everyone is happier and more relaxed..."

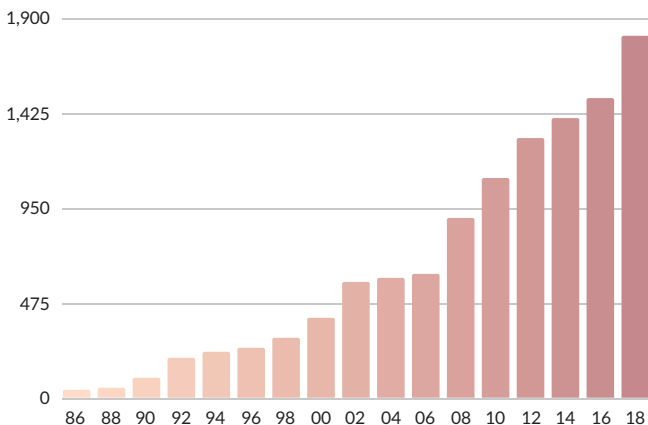

"Music crosses all boundaries and touches the hearts of our residents... musicians such as these bring extra blessings to a population... whose lives have been changed by illness and aging."

"Most of our children have not and will never go to hear this type of music. This may be the only chance they have to appreciate it."

"Texas Winds programs reduce isolation for our veterans in hospice and spinal cord injury units and help dramatically improve morale."

CATHERINE BARR LEGACY CAMPAIGN

In the fall of 1985, Catherine Barr discovered in the residents of a Dallas nursing home an unusual audience for her woodwind quintet's music.

The musicians' desire to exhibit their craft in live performance matched the need of the residents for life-affirming human interaction. In a beautiful surprise, the musicians were awakened to the potential for sharing love and compassion in a unique concert setting.

Over the ensuing thirty-three years, this discovery evolved into Texas Winds Musical Outreach, which has touched the lives of thousands of isolated seniors, hospital patients, veterans and children throughout North Texas.

In light of Catherine's decision to retire as Texas Winds' founding executive director, the board of directors is honoring her service by establishing the Catherine Barr Legacy Campaign to build the Texas Winds Endowment Fund.

Amount to Raise	$ 600,000
Current Fund:	$ 400,000
Goal:	$ 1,000,000

Sue and Christopher Bancroft, Honorary Chairs

Sue and Christopher Bancroft live and work in North Texas. They support multiple causes, including seniors, arts, education, children, and the homeless. An experienced musician, Sue Bancroft is a former Texas Winds board member, having served a term as president. She is a passionate believer in the Texas Winds mission.

"Texas Winds Musical Outreach touches the souls of the persons they serve. The professional musicians give heartfelt passion to their performances, which connect to the hearts and minds of their audiences in ways that are intangible. Both come away rewarded and changed."
 - Sue Bancroft

Frequently Asked Questions

What is the Texas Winds Endowment Fund?
 It is the permanent capital of the organization. Its purpose is to secure the long-term financial stability of the organization.

How will gifts to the Endowment be utilized?
 Gifts to the endowment will be permanently invested under the oversight of professional asset managers. Once the balance reaches $500,000, earnings on the endowment may be utilized to supplement Texas Winds operating expenses.

What is the significance of the $1 million targeted balance?
 At this level, earnings on the Endowment will secure the executive director's salary, freeing annual appeal gifts to fund over 300 additional programs annually.

Why now?
 The board of directors decided that undertaking a campaign to grow the endowment to a level sufficient to secure the executive director's salary would be a fitting way to honor Catherine Barr's thirty-three years of service to the community as the founding executive director of Texas Winds.

Can I fulfill my pledge to the campaign over time?
 Yes, pledges can be fulfilled with payments over a period of time, up to five years if desired. Statements of your pledge status will be provided periodically if you choose to fulfill your pledge over time.

Will the campaign accept securities to fulfill a pledge?
 Yes, in addition to accepting checks and credit card payments, Texas Winds can accept donations of publicly traded securities to fulfill a pledge. The donation amount will equal the current market value of the securities and any accumulated appreciation in value is not considered taxable income to the donor.
